

Private Instruction

Susan Claycomb

Susan is a Class A member of the LPGA. She has more than ten years experience teaching and club fitting players of all levels. Susan started playing golf at age 6, with her parents. She played on the AJGA junior tour, then furthered her playing career at the University of South Carolina-Coastal.

Susan also works for the LPGA as a National Evaluator for aspiring LPGA instructors. She enjoys teaching men, women, and junior players of all levels. She has created two special programs that are designed to meet the needs of women players. Making the game of golf fun is her first priority.
